

Palo Alto University at APA 2026

Presenter Guide

Everything you need to promote your presentation and connect with the PAU community during the 2026 APA Convention

Welcome

Thank you for representing Palo Alto University at the APA 2026 Convention.

Whether you're presenting research, leading a symposium, or networking with colleagues, you're helping showcase the impact of the PAU community. We've created these resources to make it easy to promote your presentation, share your experience, and celebrate the important work happening across our university.

Canva Presenter Templates

Create polished, on-brand graphics to promote your presentation before, during, and after the APA 2026 Convention. Our editable Canva templates are designed to help you announce your presentation, invite colleagues to attend, and share your work after your presentation. Each template is fully editable in Canva. Simply replace the placeholder text, add your photo if desired, and download your finished graphic for social media.
